and a chance to visit the newly restored Chapel attached to St Nicolas' Church, Guildford

The Chapel contains memorials to the Mores of Loseley and the tomb of Arnald Brocas, 1399, the oldest monument in Guildford. After 9 months, the painstaking work of restoring the Chapel and monuments is now complete. This lecture tells us how discoveries made during the restoration and new research on the Loseley archives have revealed more about the history of the Chapel and its remarkable connections with the wider literary and cultural world of Shakespeare, Donne, Pepys and the royal masons of Richard II.
